Headline:
Frosty start in the east before Storm Barra arrives.

Today:
A cold start in the east. Turning exceptionally windy, particularly across coasts, with large waves. Cloudy with outbreaks of heavy rain, turning brighter in the afternoon with blustery showers of rain and hail and hill snow. Feeling cold for most. Maximum temperature 11 deg C (52 deg F).

Tonight:
Remaining very windy, especially across the southwest, with clear spells and frequent heavy showers of rain, hail and hill snow. Minimum temperature -1 deg C (30 deg F).

Wednesday:
Another very windy day, particularly in the southwest, as Storm Barra continues to bring outbreaks of heavy rain, these most frequent in western and coastal areas. Maximum temperature 8 deg C (46 deg F).

Outlook for Thursday to Saturday:
Drier, calmer and possibly brighter on Thursday. Perhaps breezier with some rain on Friday. Cold with further hills snow at times. Milder on Saturday but cloudy with further rain.
